THE MAINE EXTRADITION CASE.

Another Warrant Issued for his Arrest. of the E. S. Attorney, Founded on the nion of the Judge, to execute it.

U. Hed States Circuit Court-At Chambers

Before Hen. Judge Nelson. ing the day on which it was understo Judge would deliver his decision in the case of Thomas Kaine, the Court was crowded, but the majority of the persons present appeared to be officers of police, who were ready to aid the Marshal and his deputies in removing the prisoner, in the event of the decision being for his extradition. The Marshal, Mr. Hillyer, took the precaution to have the prisoner brought up from the Tombs ing, in order to avoid excitement as much as possible. At the sitting of the Court, Kaine was brought in and scated near his counsel, Messra. J. T. Brady, R. Busteed, and R. Emmett. Mr. A. L. Jordan was in attendance for the British Consul. Kaine looked pale and careworn, but we understand that he has been suffering from illness for that laid down in the decision he would grant the application.

Mr. Jordan would promise to produce evidence to prove that the prisoner has been guilty of the crime with which he is charged; but the proof of the application to the Executive he could not of course promise.

The Judge.—Well, then, I cannot extend the time, and the prisoner must be discharged.

Mr. Jordan thought it proper that this matter should be disposed of in a manner that would be satisfactory to all parties, and that the British government should see that the highest tribunal of this country had reviewed the decision.

all parties, and that the British government should see that the highest tribunal of this country had reviewed the decision.

The Judge—As you state that you do not expect to furnish evidence on the principles laid down in the decision, I have no other duty to perform but to discharge the prisoner.

Mr. Jordsn could not say that they would have proof of application to the Executive.

Mr. Busteed said he wes just informed by the Marshal that he had received a warrant for the rearrest of Kaine, signed by Mr. Commissioner Morton, and charging Kaine with the same offence from which he has now been discharged by this Court. Whether the Marshal intended, in the face of the decision just pronounced, to execute the warrant, he (Mr. Busteed) did not know. If he does, the count for the reaccused is prepared to apply to this court for a writ of habes corpus, to take him out of the hands of the Marshal. [Mr. Busteed then, at the request of the Judge, read the warrant, which was dated April 25, 1853.]

Mr Jordan hoped if there was a habeas corpus issued in the case, it would be issued by the Circuit Court and returnable to that court; and of course there would be no habeas corpus granted until after the hearing before the Commissioner.

The Judge (looking at the warrant) said—That warrant, less its stand in the face of this decision, and of course Commissioner.

The Judge (looking at the warrant) said—That warrant,
I see, is issued in the face of this decision; and, of course,
I shall direct that the conclusion I have come to is en-

I shall direct that the conclusion I have come to is enforced.

Mr. Brady said that the counsel for K sine had never desired that there should be any decision in the case but in accordance with law and the well settled rule of treaties; and he desired to present the whole case before his Honor. This warrant is issued by certain parties who would be held responsible for it; and he askel his Honor to suspend the order for the prisoner's discharge, in order that they might bring the case before the Court in the morning on tetition.

This wairant is issued by certain parties who would be held responsible for it; and he asked his Honor to suspend the order for the prisoner's dictarge, in order that they might bring the case before the Court in the morning on petition.

Mr. Jordan acted in this case in a professional capacity, and without any private feeling. He thought it was one which ought to be reviewed by the highest court of the United States. There is a difference of of opinion on the question amongst the judiciary as to the mode in which this treaty should be carried out. He therefore asked his honor if it would not be proper that some direction should be given to it in order that it might be reviewed before the Supreme Court. If the prisoner is discharged in the present case, he saw nothing to prevent his being arrested again, and brought before an officer who has jurisdiction. The former complaint was made in the nature of a requisition. It is not so now. It is an application for the arrest of the offender for a crime committed in Ireland, based on evidence which will insure his conviction. He (ifr. Jordan) had no desire about the matter beyond his professional duties, but the Court would see the necessity for enforcing the solemn stipulations of the treaty. He would ask whether it is right or proper, that because there is a difference of opinion in respect to the officer to whom the application was first made, inta the accused person should be discharged; or whether it would not be more advisable to have the whole case reviewed; and he trusted that such a source would be taken by this Court as would substantiate the objects in view.

The Judge—I harvan'ready taken that course in the previous consideration of the case. I have done all in my pover for the purpose of bringing it sefers the highest judicial authority for a decision and settlement of the true construction of the case was dhanlessed on the merits. It has been now protracted since has June, and I think it at time that it should be trought to a close.

warrant. He, (tir. Emdy); as an American cities, should ing in an American court of justice, would not wish, for the sake of twenty thesemed prisoners such as Haine, that any officer of the American government should place hisposif in the position of disobeying a warrant catrusted to him for execution. The prisoner is prepared to pretent a potition to the Court as soon as we understand that he is arrested; but from the opinion delivered by this Court, it is clear that he is entitled to his dis to present a potition to the Cent as soon as we understand that he is arrested; but from the opinion delivered by this Cent, it is clear that he is entitled to his discharge.

The United States District Attorney, (Mr. C. O'Coner.) who had just entered the court, said that the Marshal was desirous of obeying the opinion of his honor the Judge, he was, therefore, in doubt as to whether he should execute the warrant; but the doubt seems to be solved by the course proposed by the course for the prisoner. The Marshal will make a formal arrest, if the Court would not deem it disrespectful, and his honor the Judge could order a bearing to morrow morning.

After some further discussion, Mr. Jordan said he understood that the prisoner was discharged on the ground of want of jurisdiction.

The Judge—That is one of the grounds.

Mr. Jordan sgain asked if the Court would not think it proper to institute proceedings for the purpose of reviewing those grounds, and whether the Court would and allow the claimant the opportunity of showing whether or not the application should have been made to the Executive. He asked whether the Court would dispose of the question in a summary way, or allow the Marshal to execute the warrant? It is a very nice question; at the same time, whatever the ladit vidual hardships may be, the first principle of law and the gravity of the question ought not to yield to individual interest.

Mr. Stady and there was no difficulty in coming to suck a conclusion as would sustain the law and prevent any danger in the settlement of the question. The comisel for the prisoner did not concent to his rearrest, as the learned Attorney for the United States presumes; the warrant is in the Marshal's hands, it is informal; he may or may rot execute it, if he does, we are prepared to present a petition for a habeas corpus, and the matter can be disposed of immediately.

Mr. O'Conor was not in court when the decision was delivered, but if he had been correctly informed, his honor, the Judge—All I can say is that I sha
